Building Culture of the 20th century in the canton of Schwyz

Einsiedeln, Werner Oechslin library

The architects Paul Schoeck, Josef Steiner and Adalbert Stähli have shaped the architecture of their time in the canton of Schwyz - but also far beyond. In the form of an open panel discussion conducted by Beat Waeber, Arch. ETH BSA, the art historian Dr. Anja Buschow Oechslin, the art historian and stv. Managing Director of the Cultural Heritage Protection Patrick Schoeck and Lucas Steiner, dipl. Arch. ETH SIA, will discuss the building culture heritage of the 20th century in the canton of Schwyz, based on the personal relationship to the architecture of our parents and grandparents. The event is being opened by the Schwyz government council and architect Michael Stähli. The library Werner Oechslin with its invaluable treasure trove of books on the history of architecture forms the ideal setting.

Panel discussion:

- _ Dr. Anja Buschow Oechslin, art historian
- _ Patrick Schoeck, art historian and stv. Managing Director of the Swiss Homeland Security
- Lucas Steiner, dipl. Arch. ETH SIA
- _ Moderation: Beat Waeber, Arch. ETH BSA
